The Right Spirit.

The Salem Register, one of the most outspoken Republican papers in the State is opposed to the wild scheme of an independent ticket in the presidential contest. There is no hope of such a ticket winning, and the people of this State, in a national conflict, are unwilling to cast their ballots other than directly against Radicals and the Radical party. The Democratic party must win, or we must again go under the domination of a party whose greatest claim for the support of the people is its hatred towards, and abuse of, the people of the South. Our people will be satisfied with no half way of voting. They want to vote direct and any scheme, to withdraw the votes of the people from the support of the Democratic National Ticket will not receive the support of the people of this State however much they may be divided on local and State issues. The Salem Register very sensibly remarks:

"We hope the rancor on both sides will come to their senses, so that the Democrats of Virginia may become united in the coming struggle. Let the Flanders stop their abuse of those who honestly differ with them on State matters, and endeavor to read men into the party instead of reading them out. And let the Readjusters stop talking of an independent electoral ticket. It can't win, and will only result in losing the State. Let all, then, unite and pull together in the great struggle for the Presidency, however much we may be divided in State affairs."

A DUEL IN VIRGINIA.—A correspondent of the Richmond Whig states that a duel was fought in Brunswick county, Va., a few days ago, the principals being R. A. Hanes, a young lawyer, and Richard Jolly, a traveling salesman. The affair grew out of a political dispute on the Virginia State debt question. The weapons used were dueling pistols and the distance ten yards. Each had a surgeon, and a dozen friends witnessed the affair. At the word "one" both simultaneously fired. Mr. Jolly's bullet passed through the crown of Mr. Hanes' hat, taking out a lock of hair, while Mr. Hanes' bullet inflicted a slight flesh wound in Mr. Jolly's right arm, above the elbow. It at first died copiously, but was soon stanch by his surgeon. Notwithstanding the entreaties of his friends, who implored him to desist, and the arguments of his second, who vainly called his attention to the regulations of the code, he demanded a second shot. They were forced to accede to his demand, and were reloading the pistols for another fire, when a constable, provided with a peace warrant, made his appearance and arrested the combatants, and both were released on giving bail in the sum of $500 to appear at the county court next Monday.

A PARROT ON THE WITNESS STAND.—A parrot took the witness stand in a London Police Court a fortnight ago. The bird was claimed by Mrs. Tanner, who said that it escaped from its cage and had been caught by Mr. Isaac, who refused to give it up. Mr. Isaac admitted that he had caught the parrot, but disputed Mrs. Tanner's ownership. Mrs. Tanner said the bird could not talk much, but could say "mother" quite plumply. Mr. Isaac said it was in the habit of saying "My Lord." The magistrate directed that the parrot should be kept for some hours, to see if it verified either statement. During the afternoon the bird gave satisfactory evidence in favor of Mrs. Tanner's statement that the parrot said there was not the slightest doubt that it belonged to her, and he therefore ordered it to be restored to her.

The Augusta Constitutionalist does not exactly declare for Mr. Justice Field, but endorses him very strongly. It says: "He has many elements of strength. He was a Union man; he can carry the Pacific Coast States, and it is positively asserted that he represents the missing link between Tilden and Kelly, and, therefore, is the man of men to carry New York, and with New York, New Jersey and Connecticut. With him the square issue between the Federal and centralizing ideas, desired so ardently by Democratic journals, can be made without hesitation or doubt. His private life is without blemish, his public life is notable for defence of the very citadel of our liberties and reserved rights of the States."

SAD CASE OF SUICIDE.—The New York Times states that a lady, whose name is variously given as Dora Simon and Dora Simmons, committed suicide in that city Friday by taking Paris Green. She lived comfortably at No. 337 East Twenty-fourth street, and her neighbors say that a week ago her husband, who had been a professor in a well-known educational institute, but who recently gave private music lessons, eloped with a pupil, and was last heard of in Baltimore.

During a school entertainment in the public hall at Lincoln, Pa., Saturday night, at which 500 persons were present, the floor gave way, precipitating 150 persons to the floor below. Many others jumped from the windows, and are twelve feet from the ground. Thirty persons were injured, including Mrs. Jacob Keenigsmacher, Misses Alice Bowman, Ada Sprague, Ada Miller, Laura Erb and Christie Benjamin seriously. During the confusion the scholars rushed on the stage, overturning two lamps, setting fire to the carpet, but the fire was extinguished before serious damage was done.

A Lynchburg (Va.) dispatch states that ex-Judge H. H. of Buckingham, Griffin, of Roanoke, and Wharton, of Bedford, now under indictment in the United States District Court for refusing to put colored men on their juries, demand an immediate trial and decline to consent to a continuance of the cases against them, as they have made full preparations and have attended court at considerable trouble and expense with their counsel and witnesses. The prosecution was disposed to continue all the cases, but the demand of these judges will probably cause these trials to proceed without further delay.

A day or two a stranger with a beard as stiff as a stubble field entered a well-known barber shop in East Baltimore, and asked to be shaved. The barber, a polite but cautious German, set to work and shaved one-half of the man's face. He demanded his pay, but the man, after some parleying, admitted that he had no money. Disregarding his promise to pay in the future, the barber sternly ordered him to depart just as he was. His appearance on the street with one cheek covered with bristles and the other as smooth as the palm of a man's hand, created intense excitement. In despair he applied to Policeman Rokefort to go security for the completion of the shave, but that officer, warned by former experience, declined to commit himself. No one else would advance the required funds, and the stranger hastily departed for parts unknown.

A party of one hundred regulators rode to Jas. Binion's house, in Carter county, Kentucky, Thursday night, and asked for John Boggs, a notorious character, who was consoling about the house. Binion refused to open the door, but commenced a fusillade, firing fifty shots, killing it, it is believed, one man. The regulators, who had come only to notify Boggs to leave the country, then broke down the doors. Three shots were fired at Binion, who was instantly killed, and in the affray Mrs. Binion's right leg was broken. Thereupon the regulators seized Boggs, took him to a tree and hung him.

A handkerchief has caused deadly strife between two maidens in a Rochester (N. Y.) factory. They worshipped the same idol—a beautiful young man with a dapper cane and a bright smile. One of them flourished a silk handkerchief bearing his initials in the other's face. It was enough. The jealous rival had taffy, ice-cream and many delicate attentions, but no silk handkerchief, so she slapped her antagonist's face and was in return banged just above the bang on her brow. Then there was a little hair pulling, and one of the girls rushed to the police office and swore out a warrant. Before the ink was dry she dashed in again and withdrew the warrant, saying she did not want to get her name in the newspapers.

It is not so pleasant to be a prince, after all. He is not permitted to select his own bride. He may fall in love with a girl as beautiful as an hour and as good as an angel, but unless she is a member of a royal family he must tear her image from his breast, and marry a princess who may wear freckles, a pug nose, and red hair. To be sure, she generally has enough names to compensate for her homeliness, but a prince doesn't think of that when he is in love.

Democratic Thunder for 1880

The Democratic party have stopped the ruinous Republican policy of contraction.

They remonetized silver and restored the people's money to them again.

They saved $157,000,000 of money to the people in four years.

They reduced the number of salaries of the swarms of federal officials.

They exposed the frauds of Roberson in the navy department.

They detected Grant's cabinet thief, Belknap, and drove him from power.

They put an end to the thieving of Boss Shepard and his gang of Washington plunderers.

They broke up the rule of the infamous carpet bag thieves who had robbed the South of over $215,000,000.

The Democratic party, is the only one that will save our Republic from the encroachments of Grantism and of despotism.

It is true that a journey around the world has made a pure and great statesman out of the head of the most corrupt administration that ever disgraced the United States, we have a valuable hint as to the elevating and reforming influences of travel. Let us put all our bad men in ships and send them round and round the globe until they develop into holy sages and Christian statesmen. If this plan has worked so admirably in the case of Grant, who was not a thief, but the patron of thieves, why should it not do wonders for worse men, such as we send to the penitentiaries? If one trip around the earth has made Grant fit for a third term, two such voyages should certainly make a good citizen out of the average convict.—Washington Post.

Tilden, in any event, would be our weakest possible candidate. Anybody—Thurman, Ewing, Bayard, Palmer, Voorhees, Hendricks, Seymour—could carry the United States against Grant, but handicapped with the dead weight of Tilden, the Democratic party would founder hopelessly in a slough of despond, and plunge at length into an abyss of devaluation and ruin comparable only with that which swallowed up the followers of Walter the Penniless in the first Crusade.—Vincennes (Ind.) News (Dem.).

A DUEL THAT WAS NOT FOUGHT.—A Petersburg dispatch says reliable information received there contradicts the reported duel in Brunswick county, Va., between R. A. Hanes, readjuster, and Richard Jolly, debt-payer. The parties have had no difficulty, and the account of the duel, which appeared as a letter in the Richmond Whig, was written for sensational purposes.

The St. Paul Pioneer Press drops Sherman to take up Blaine.

Washburne will surely be a candidate if the ex-President declines.

The ablest portion of the Tennessee press is firmly opposed to repudiation.

The Columbus (Ohio) Daily Democrat has been changed to the Daily Times, and comes out strong for Senator Thurman for President.

The Richmond Commonwealth, conservative, expresses the belief that with Tilden and Grant as the presidential candidates the latter would carry Virginia.

It is again rumored that Mr. W. H. Vanderbilt is soon to pass the presidency of the New York Central Railroad down to his son, Cornelius Vanderbilt, Jr.

The Allegheny county (Pa.) democratic primaries resulted in a victory for Tilden, the anti-Tilden forces securing 30 delegates out of over 500 to ten different senatorial and legislative conventions.

Indians attacked a ranch near Fort Davis Texas, last week, killed one man and carried off a boy. Lieut. Bullis and troops are in pursuit.

Mrs. Belle Sage, of New Albany, Ind., sues Albert Sage, her brother-in-law, for stealing and carrying away her husband, who has consumption, and is insured for $2,000.

Clarence Davis, the bigamist, attempted to strangle himself in jail at Chicago, Friday night. His thirteenth wife is en route to Chicago.

Near Fort Worth, Texas, Friday night, three highwaymen attacked and robbed a party of campers. Repeating the experiment on another camp, they were fired upon, and one of the party was wounded and one of their horses killed. They got away with their wounded comrade.

A member of Congress from Michigan, who is friendly to the nomination of Senator Blaine, says that at least two thirds of the delegates from Michigan will favor Blaine's nomination and the other third will vote for Grant.

Lucian Nofsinger, formerly living near Buchanan, in Botetourt county, Va., has been sentenced to be hung at Gainesville, Texas, for killing his rival in a love affair. The 30th of April has been named for the day of execution.

Hon. R. M. T. Hunter, late State treasurer of Virginia, and formerly a prominent United States Senator, now personally superintending the repairing of his saw mill, in Essex county, Va.

Edwin Fair, a brother of the Nevada millionaire, James G. Fair, has arrived in this country from Ireland, where he was a renter, paying an annual rent on eight acres of land of $5.50 per acre.

CHARLESTON, S. C. March 17.—The town of Branchville was fired by unknown parties in two places before daylight this morning. The postoffice, one dwelling house and six stores were destroyed. L. W. Lookey's loss is $4,500, insured for $3,500; D. Byrd, loss $8,000; J. K. Arish, loss $2,000, no insurance; W. F. Syphert, loss $700, insured for $400; B. D. Meyers, loss $1,000, no insurance.

At Grand View, Ind., Tuesday night, Emory Phillips, while drunk, entered the room of Thomas J. Snyder, looked in the head of a bass drum and shot Snyder dead.

In the United States Senate, a bill was passed removing the political disabilities of Roger A. Pryor. The "star-route" deficiency appropriation bill was passed, with an amendment appropriating $5,000 for the public printing.

How THEY STAND.—Presidential Candidates—"I am," says Sherman. "I am not," says Seymour. "Just as my friends say," says Grant. There is no doubtful ring about all the others; they are.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

A Faithless Husband's Crime.

FORGERY—EMBEZZLEMENT—POISON.

BOSTON, MASS., March 17.—Homer Wellington, who lately withdrew from the firm of Utley & Boynton, prominent commission merchants, of this city, was arrested to-day at the instance of his father-in-law, Mr. Boynton, who charges him with various defalcations while a member of the firm to the amount of $3,000 or $4,000, and with the forgery of notes. He was held in bail to-day on those charges. For some months past the members of the Wellington family at Cambridge have been seriously ill at various periods, the disease being called gastric fever by physicians. Wellington's infant son died some months ago, and lately his wife has been taken ill. Her suspicions were aroused, and she saved some oatmeal which her husband had prepared for her. It has been analyzed, and enough arsenic found in it to poison ten persons, and Mrs. Wellington owes her life to the overdose. Detectives state that Wellington's infatuation with another woman was the cause of the crime. Arsenic was found in Wellington's possession when arrested, and it is stated that he has made a full confession.

Later, Wellington, on being arrested, confessed he had appropriated money of Utley & Boynton's, but denied poisoning his family. He stated that a friend named Hallett had bought him some arsenic to poison a cat, and that he threw away the balance last December. A detective at this point took from Wellington's pocket a two-ounce bottle full of arsenic. Wellington was held in $10,000 on a charge of forgery, and will appear before a Cambridge court on the charge of poisoning his wife.

Some of the recent executions in Russia recall a very striking incident of the reign of Peter the Great. The nihilism of that period was represented by the revolt of the Strelitz (Archier) Guard, which Peter quelled and punished with merciless severity, beheading a man for every turret on the Kremlin wall, which overlooked the place of execution. The headsman being fatigued with the butchery, Peter himself took his place, and struck off twelve heads with his own hand. The thirteenth was a handsome young soldier nicknamed Orel (Eagle), who, pushing aside his predecessor's headless corpse, cried with a laugh, "Come, brother, it's my turn for an audience with the czar now!" Peter, struck with this reckless gallantry, pardoned and promoted him. Some French writers have endeavored to throw a coloring of romance over the incident by making it his hero the czar's unacknowledged son, but the respective ages of the two men render this all but impossible.—New York Times.

ALEXANDRIA RE-ADJUSTERS.—Mr. D. A. Windsor having received from the State Central Committee of the Re-adjuster party at Richmond his appointment as chairman of the Executive Committee of the party in this city, quite a large meeting of Re-adjusters was held last night in the office of Judge Chilton for consultation. The meeting was presided over by Mr. D. A. Windsor, and Mr. J. T. Sweeney acted as secretary. After an expression of opinion it was informally decided that the Re-adjuster party of the city would have nothing to do with national politics. The Executive Committee of the party—five from each ward—was announced by the chairman, subject to ratification by a mass-meeting, which is to be held in a short time at the old court-house. Ward meetings will also be held at an early day to elect working committees to act in conjunction with Executive Committee.—Gazette, 18th.

LYNCHBURG, VA., March 17.—In the United States District Court, to-day, Judge Field presiding Attorney-General Field said that in view of the recent decision of the United States Supreme Court in the cases of Judges Brown, of Nelson, Haythe, of Campbell, Parrish, of Appomattox, Wharton, of Bedford, Griffin, of Roanoke, and Henry of Amherst, indicted in the United States Court some months ago for obstructing the civil and legal rights of citizens, he could no longer act as counsel as it would place the State and himself in the attitude of resisting the laws of the country and the decisions of the Supreme Court, whereupon all the cases against the judges were continued to the next term.

LYNCHBURG, VA., March 17.—An accidental fire on lower Main street to-day, originating in Wood & Co's tobacco factory, consumed that establishment and also the large tobacco factories of Flood & Smith and Hancock & Moorman, with most of their contents. Pace's warehouse narrowly escaped. Wood & Co. lose about $1,000, no insurance; Flood & Smith are insured for $17,000, and lose half the value of the property destroyed. Hancock & Moorman are insured for $10,000, loss heavy. The total loss is not under $80,000. Nearly the whole block was destroyed.

DAVENPORT, IOWA, March 20.—The arsenal at the Glucose Works was smashed a depth of nine hundred and thirty feet, having been reached, and the water, which flows four hundred gallons a minute, having been found. The pressure forces a six-inch stream twenty-five feet above the surface of the earth.

How THEY STAND.—Presidential Candidates—"I am," says Sherman. "I am not," says Seymour. "Just as my friends say," says Grant. There is no doubtful ring about all the others; they are.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

Very Important Discoveries Under Cleopatra's Needle.

PARIS, March 19.—A dispatch from Cairo to-day communicates a fact which will revive in a still higher degree the interest excited among students of Egyptian mysteries two or three months ago by Lieutenant Command Goring's discovery of Masonic emblems underneath the pedestal of the obelisk at Alexandria destined for transportation to New York. Interesting as important as were the discoveries of Commander Goring and Dr. Fanton, they were not exhaustive, and the practiced eye of another distinguished Masonic dignity has just detected an additional series of emblems of a value and significance far greater and more unquestionable than those previously reported.

Mr. S. A. Zola, Grand Commander and President of the Scotch Ancient and Accepted Masonic Rite for Egypt and Egyptian ex-Grand Master of Symbolic Masonry, has just examined the foundations of the Alexandrian obelisk, and has discovered another series of stones which not only bear all the existing Masonic emblems, but furnish the key which has hitherto been lacking to explain the entire dimensions and proportions of what proves to have been an elaborate Masonic edifice, including the obelisk itself, the pedestal, the staircase and the hidden foundations.

Mr. Zola professes to be able by this discovery to throw a vivid light upon the ancient Egyptian origin of Masonic symbolism hitherto so energetically disputed by many savans, and it is expected that the publication of his detailed drawings will finally settle more than one of the problems which lie at the very foundation not only of Masonry, but of the obscure and complicated religious system of the early Egyptians.

Virginia and the Republicans

The reports which reached here from Virginia are very annoying to the Democratic politicians, and numerous consultations have taken place regarding some action to bring the two Democratic factions together. It is the candid opinion of well informed Virginia politicians that their party cannot count with any degree of certainty of having the electoral vote of that State at the next coming contest. It is asserted in the most positive manner that Senator-elect Malone has determined not to swear allegiance to the National Democratic nominee in advance, but that it is his purpose to wait and see who receives the nomination in Cincinnati. His inclination is to support General Grant if he obtains the nomination at Chicago, and if Tilden or Bayard carry off the prize at Cincinnati he will most assuredly do so. The opposition on the part of Senator Malone and his supporters to the Democratic nominee can have no other result than turning the State of Virginia over the Republicans. Members of the Republican Committee have late received messages from Virginia, from a source which they decline to make public, of a very encouraging character. In consequence of these letters a claim is freely made that Virginia will be a Republican State after next November.

So says a Washington telegram in the Philadelphia Bulletin.

LYNCHBURG, VA., March 20.—In the United States District Court, Judge Rives, ex-Judge John Hill, of Buckingham, was tried on an indictment charging him with obstructing the civil and legal rights of citizens by excluding or not summoning negroes on his jury. Hon. T. S. Bock, Major John W. Daniel and Major Dandridge, of Winchester, appeared for defendant, and Capt. Larty for the prosecution. After hearing testimony the Judge said the United States had not made out a case, and if the jury brought a verdict of guilty he would set it aside, it having been proved that the defendant had not violated the law, as alleged; whereupon defendant was discharged. Other judges will be tried Monday.

At Aurora, Ill., yesterday, Mrs. W. Baldwin was found dead in bed, with her jugular vein severed, and beside her unconscious husband with several gashes in his throat, arms and abdomen. His wounds are not serious. Baldwin is from Vermont, and married three weeks ago. The cause of the bloody deed is unknown.

Five of the Virginia judges indicted for putting negroes on juries have asked the United States Court at Lynchburg, to continue their cases. The three others will probably be tried at this term.

An Illinois Vendetta.

A MAN HIRED TO MURDER A WHOLE FAMILY AT 80 MUCH PER HEAD.

(Special to the Commonwealth.)

CHICAGO, ILL., March 20.—A special from Des Moines says: "There has long existed a deadly feud between the families of Howey and Westfall, at Teardown Church, in Warren county, Iowa. It resulted in a murderous shooting affray two years ago, and has now broken out afresh. Last Wednesday evening Reuben Westfall, while looking for his hogs, was shot in the head by some person in ambush. The ball struck just above the ear, but glanced on the skull, making only a slight scalp-wound. Two days after, one George Wheeler was arrested on suspicion, and confessed that he had fired the shot; that he had been hired by the Howeys to shoot the entire Westfall family at one hundred dollars a head, and when the last one was dispatched he was to have two hundred dollars extra. Wheeler's statement is confirmed by circumstances, and on its strength four of the Howeys have been arrested with two others of their gang. The remainder cannot be found at present."
